

Lesson 1 script: Personal Identity

An excerpt from the opening of the first video lesson. Each scene pairs what students see with what the teacher says, so the production team can build visuals that serve the learning, not just decorate it.

Written by Keri Zeller, who also presented on camera

Languages on screen English, Russian, Uzbek

Direction for the production team

Design purpose of the scene

Built-in thinking time

Scene 1

Hook

On screen

Teacher appears with vibrant visuals and lively music.

Teacher Keri

Hey there! Welcome to today's exciting lesson, where we will unravel the mysteries of our own unique identities. Get ready for an adventure as we dive deep into who we are!

Scene 2

Big idea

On screen

Teacher walks to a large digital whiteboard with a bold orange frame. It reveals a puzzle; each piece is a color from the O'Bilim Adventure Palette.

Teacher Keri

Picture this: you're at the center of an epic puzzle, and each piece represents a part of your amazing identity.

We're about to uncover the secrets that make you, YOU! Let's put together the puzzle of our identities!

Scene 3

Define

On screen

The word appears in a bold, modern font in three languages, then cuts back to the teacher in front of the puzzle.

EN identity

RU личность

Teacher Keri

What does identity mean? Identity is the unique combination of qualities, characteristics, and beliefs that define who we are. Just like our puzzle here!

Scene 4

First piece

On screen

Zoom in on the first puzzle piece, with translations.

EN personal characteristics

RU личные характеристики

UZ шахсий хусусиятлар

Teacher Keri

Our first puzzle piece is all about personal characteristics, those unique traits that make each of us who we are. Think about it: when you read a book or watch a movie, the characters have qualities that make them memorable, right?

Lesson 1 script, continued

Scene 5

Vocabulary

On screen

Show the word list with translations. Each word carries a number: its first letter's place in the alphabet, used later in the math segment (word bank below).

Teacher Keri

Let's practice some new English words for describing people, like brave, kind, and funny. These words will help you describe yourself and others in a whole new way!

On-screen word bank, with each word's number value

Brave	2	Creative	3	Determined	4	Energetic	5	Funny	6
Genuine	7	Honest	8	Intelligent	9	Joyful	10	Kind	11
Loving	12	Motivated	13	Nurturing	14	Optimistic	15	Patient	16
Quick	17	Resilient	18	Supportive	19	Thoughtful	20	Unique	21

Scene 6

Model, then practice

On screen

Show the model sentence on screen, then pause the video.

Pause: students write their own sentence

Teacher Keri

Let's start with "brave." Here's my sentence: I am brave because I'm not afraid to try new things. Now it's your turn! Can you think of another sentence using the word "brave"?

Scene 7

Reflect

On screen

The video pauses for reflection, then the teacher drags new trait pieces onto the puzzle.

Pause: students reflect on their own traits

Teacher Keri

Let's take a moment to reflect. What traits describe the incredible YOU? Are you adventurous, compassionate, or super curious?

Look at that! Our puzzle is starting to take shape.

Why the script is written this way: every scene names its purpose (hook, define, model, practice, reflect), the on-screen directions tell the video team exactly what students need to see, and pauses are scripted rather than left to chance. The same alphabet values reappear in the math segment, so vocabulary and equations reinforce each other.